Verbal Advantage

Now, you can amass a

HARVARD GRADUATE'S VOCABULARY

Just by Memorizing Words!

People Judge You By the Words You Use

Right or wrong, people judge you by the words you use and the color of your skin. They make assumptions about your intelligence, your education, and your capabilities. We can sit here and argue all day, but the fact is that most high powered jobs are disproportionately occupied by literate, well groomed, white males. Nothing makes a better impression than a solid mastery of the English language. Not even knowing two languages. And if one of those languages isn't English, then you are really wasting your time.

Can You Deal With These Statistics?

We are not making this up. This conclusion is based on years of statistical analysis. For instance, over 60 percent of inmates on death row have extremely small vocabularies. The bias is everywhere. Still don't believe us? Well, there are literally millions of illiterate Americans, yet there is only ONE illiterate Senator.

What the HELL is Going On?

What we call "the verbal advantage" is the ability to use words precisely and powerfully due to the fact that you lived in a wealthy neighborhood with a well-funded public school. It's having the knowledge and skill to communicate clearly, accurately, and effectively because you were born into the right family. With an expanded vocabulary and proper diction, you'll find that you'll get the attention you've always dreamed of, but never deserved.

Be Popular Without Lifting Weights

Imagine yourself at a business or social gathering. You have the floor. All eyes are on you. You're speaking with confidence and poise, always choosing precisely the right words to convey your unusual thoughts and insights persuasively and serendipitously. Imagine this is a world without hate, where people are judged not by the color of their skin, but the size of their vocabulary. With the Verbal Advantage you can turn this scenario into reality.

Now We're Getting Somewhere

We guarantee that the Verbal Advantage will improve every aspect of your life. With the confidence and poise you gain from a larger vocabulary, women will find you irresistible. Are you a woman yourself? Rampant sexism in the workplace has resulted in a wage gap of 75%. Why do bad things happen to good people? We are not here to answer that question.

Try Verbal Advantage NOW

When you order the Verbal Advantage you will receive this Special Program Edition which includes the first 2 CD's of a 24 CD course. This powerful program is packed with essential vocabulary skills that will help you realize the innate prejudices that permeate our society. If you are not satisfied for any reason with either the state of society or your own vocabulary after 60 days, you may return the program and ponder exactly what it takes to change social mores.

We guarantee that the Verbal Advantage is the best way to attain the powerhouse vocabulary you need to join the top 5% of adults...OR IT COSTS YOU NOTHING! You succeed or you don't pay, it's that simple!

Hilbert & Sons' CrabFinder

Do your children love to play with crabs, "nature's fiddlers?" Perhaps you yourself enjoy the taste of crab meat? Either way, now you can gather crabs in most efficient manner possible. Using the latest in bioelectric technology, Hilbert & Sons' CrabFinder finds crabs by localizing the emanations of their little crabby brain waves, and then stuns them by sending out a 30,000 volt ElectroCrabnetic™ discharge, paralyzing the little fiddler for up to an hour, leaving you (or your children) free to manipulate the crab at your pleasure and leisure. We are able to offer you this duty free item thanks to a productive partnership with the Department of Defense.

Just Plain Smart

A. I. liner? This round's on me.

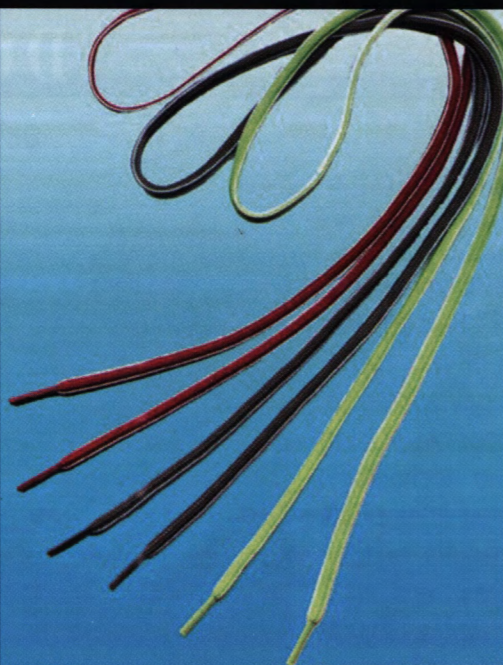

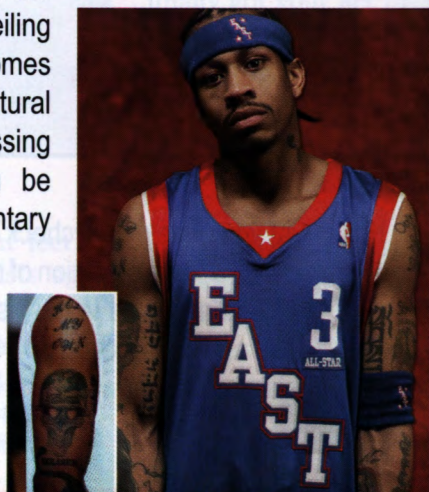

Just because you're drunk doesn't mean your eyeliner has to be. Finally, you can have as many gin and tonics as you want, decide midway through the evening that your lackluster love life is a result of too little eye shadow, and do something about it. A. I. liner combines computer vision with Markov models to reason under uncertainty about where your eyelid is. It then applies Street Glamour Blue with the calculated probabilities to each candidate location. Suboptimal, but it won't look like you're not trying.

Now for the first time, A. I. Answers is offering The Answer to the general public. Equipped with greedy algorithms developed by the NBA, Iverson will throw out everything tin your house and then complain that he's the only one who gets things done. While you are looking through the dumpster for your car keys and checkbook, Iverson will use calibrated decision trees to figure out whether to tattoo himself with the waffle iron or the ceiling fan. Iverson also comes with basic natural language processing abilities, and can be taught rudimentary rap lyrics. Sick crossover moves.

Well it's about time! Autonomous Shoelaces

If you're like us, you've probably spent a lot of time staring haplessly at your shoelaces wondering 'why can't these things just tie themselves.' Well stare no longer. Using a sophisticated system of neural networks and neural nylons, Intellaces are able to learn your specific tying technique, with specific optimizations designed for Rabbit Ears and Loop, Swoop, and Pull methods.

After purchasing your pair of Intellaces, the process of getting them to work for you is simple:

Training phase: During the training phase, you will have to spend several hours a day providing both positive and negative examples of correctly tied shoes. This isn't as bad as it sounds. Watching TV, talking on the phone, or just hanging out are great times to be tying your shoes.

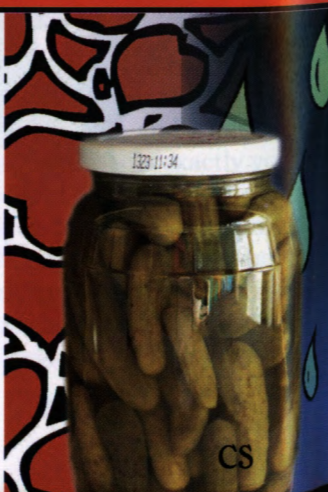

Exploration phase: After training your Intellaces, they will undergo an exploration period where they will experiment with greatly differing tying strategies to ensure that they don't settle for a suboptimal solution. They might even discover something you've never even thought of! During this time we advise wearers to abstain from running or using stairs.

Testing phase: At this point Intellaces are ready to tackle of all your shoe tying needs. But is it really more convenient than tying them yourself? Find out by keeping detailed records of how much time you spend fixing Intellaces's mistakes vs. how much time you spend tying conventional nylon laces. What you find might be surprising!

Caveat: Intellaces use cutting edge A.I. technology developed by the military. Laces that have been correctly taken to the Testing Phase rarely malfunction. Still, it is recommended that they are kept away from household pets and children under the age of 5. Owners are also advised to avoid dependence by tying their own laces at least once a week.

Temperamental Pickle Jar

Are you tired of losing pickle jars to big-handed bullies? Why must those angelic lids dismiss our gentle entreaties only to yield themselves completely to the rough pawings of some dim-witted brute? Why can't you find a glass rim whose delicate threadings appreciate tenderness over torque? Why are you always the one stuck cleaning up the jar when all the pickles are gone? Fret no longer. Incorporating cutting-edge tactile sensors with fuzzy logic, A. I. Answers have produced an emotional pickle jar that will open up its soul only to a nurturing touch. The meek shall inherit the Kosher dills.

Shop from over 50 stores with a stolen credit card that the owner can't report because he can't use his cell phone on the plane.

Abstractions

Evolution

Are your legs too short? Neck too long? Feet too unstable? Do you have a paper due on genetics, but don't have a single primary source? Evolution could be the solution to all of your problems. On the other hand, you might find Creationism to actually be more what you had in mind. Abstractions offers both, and we suggest the deluxe package for ultimate satisfaction.

Tact

Are you losing jobs and consequently hope because of the way you handle yourself at interviews? Do you feel like you have two, maybe three, friends total? At social gatherings do you feel like people are being "way too sensitive" to what you say to them almost all of the time? If so, Tact is for you. A sense of awareness of what is right and wrong to say and do in certain situations is pretty much required for any person who wants to spend time with other people ever. Yes, Tact is costly, but along with it will come friends, possible lovers, receptive waiters, amiable doormen, sympathetic dental hygienists, the family that has held you at a distance for too long now, and no more gunmen.

Smarts

You sick of reading this? Hurt your mind? You sick of talking? Answering people? Every day suck because of all the words? You getting lost all the time? Spilling food? Tripping? You need Smarts. Intelligence is something that all the lucky guys have, but it doesn't have to be that way. Buy Smarts.

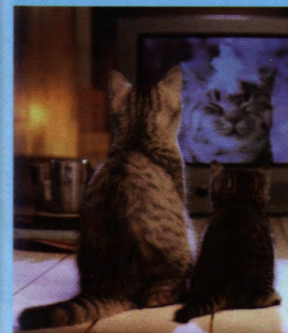

Satisfaction

Can you never seem to get your bathroom clean enough, your running fast enough, your girlfriend pretty enough, or your outings fun enough? Well, settle down, Don, because we have the remedy for you. With Satisfaction, every shower will be just as hot as you like it, every movie's plot will be just as easy to follow as necessary for you to understand it, and every glass of milk will be steamy cold. Your grass will be so green it'll be blue.

Love

"Can't Buy Me Love"???? Wrong again, John Lennon. At Abstractions, love is just a cash payment away. We understand that in the twenty-first century, it can be incredibly hard to fall in love. People are older, wiser, and a little bit more jaded. They are not just going to fall for you at the wink (!) of an eye. Be the first person to actually get your hands on love. Be careful, though. You may end up falling in love with the IDEA of love, and not the actual person. Hamlet did that, and now he's dead.

Y10K Compliance Package

Society's last ditch effort was sufficient to avert the catastrophe of the Y2K bug because, frankly, the contradictions of just a century setback were easily consolidated. Aside from a renewed interest in imperialism and airplane safety, the time travel has not noticeably affected our lives. The upcoming Y10K apocalypse will not be as gentle. A ten thousand year regression in science and social mores cannot be worked out with a formal acknowledgement of "natural" medicine's legitimacy and a heyday for Capri pants. If we are going to survive this traumatic leap backwards, we will have to begin the transition now. The Y10K compliance package prepares you and your lineage for this upcoming event with daily lessons in survival and etiquette in the year 0 AD.

Additional Features Include:
AD fix - In the event that Jesus comes again, this will alert our computers, and prevent the embarrassing mistake of saying 'After Death'.
Y2K fix - Some theorists have proposed that since we were sent back to 1900 five years ago, we will suffer the same fate in 95 years and never reach the Y10K disaster. Now this won't be a problem.

HORSE UNLIMITED

"WHAT'S BETTER THAN A HORSE?"

Horse, Eat With Your Feet!

Your horse has been waiting too long to be taught to eat with his feet, and you know it. Well, the time is now, and the logic is simple. Every horse wants to eat with his face, so once he is placed on a treadmill, he will instinctively walk to the goal (vegetables and a bowl of hay). Because of the nature of the treadmill, however, your horse will stay in place even when walking. This will force him to lunge forward to try to get at the food with his face, which will result in a shock.

This shock will deter him from trying such a maneuver again, and he will learn, in time, that his only alternative is to pick up his two front feet, like a normal person, and eat. At this point, the options are endless. Drinking soda while walking, talking on the phone while walking, running like a human while holding suitcases—he will be able to do it all.

Bagel Bite Scorcher

Do you enjoy Bagel Bites, but abhor the way they turn out when zapped in a microwave or "crapped" in a toaster oven? So do we. That's why we've come up with the Bagel Bite Scorcher, a toaster that combines regular toasting ability with specially shaped Bagel Bite Holes in which to place the to-be-cooked Bites. An oval that measures 3" X 4" X 4", each Bagel Bite Hole has been designed so as to accommodate regular old Cheese Bites to tasty Sausage and Pepperoni, which have 1/2" more bulk on each side than normal Cheese. Unlike a microwave or a normal toaster, the Bagel Bite Scorcher sends heat waves directly to the center of each Bite, producing Bites that are cooked all the way through, not left raw and soggy from the microwave. No way. You can be sure that each pepperoni bit will be smoked to perfection by the Bagel Bite Scorcher.

Breathalyzers and More.

Booze Goodbye

What's the use of a breathalyzer when you already no you're soaked as a wineskin. You know it, they know it, anyone who saw you fishtail into Pizza King's knows it, now the question is, are you gonna get thrown in the clink for just having a bit of fun behind the wheel? Usually you'd be penciling in the next ten Saturdays with court ordered community service. But if you have the trusty Booze Goodbye, you don't have to worry about missing the Vegas bachelor party to give some fat old judge a heartfelt apology. Booze Goodbye is simple and effective. It uses a 30 horse power turbine to replace every ounce of beery breath in your lungs with fresh, non-alcoholic air from outside.

128BB Booze Goodbye $300.00

Now you can hiccup through the alphabet, trip onto your face and still get away scot free. At only three hundred dollars, it's a quarter of what you'll be paying in fines if they ever pull you over on your way back from Brannigan's.

Caution: Booze Goodbye only provides a minute's worth of sober breathing, so you should probably cut to the chase.

Blood Alcohol Content Mood Ring

Try as they might, breathalyzers can never be stylish. They had a brief period of popularity after Princess Di kicked the bucket, but they're back on the taboo list because, frankly, they make a bad statement. That statement is, "I am whipped." No one wants to hit the bars with a guy who needs some puny doohickie's permission to drive the car. That's why B&M is offering a more discrete BAC measurement alternative, the BAC Mood Ring. Small, subtle, groovy, the BAC mood ring displays Conscientious Cool for sober readings and gets progressively darker as you approach blackout. Note: The BAC Mood Ring uses ambience interpretation to determine the general vibe of intoxication. Thus, it is likely that a positive result could indicate that you are merely surrounded by drunk people, even if you are perfectly fine to drive.

Rage Gauge

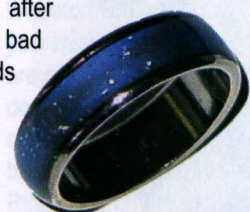

We have adapted the same handlebar heart rate sensors used on treadmills to create the first ever road rage recognition system. By analyzing both the speed and pressure of your heartbeat, our patented formula will determine with 80% accuracy whether or not you have road rage. If the system does detect the presence of road rage, it will shut off the engine, activate the emergency break, and disable the ignition until your pulse leaves the red area of the Rage Gauge. A jarring, computerized voice will repeat to you, 'cull down, hot had,' until you finally regain your composure.

Glutton Buckle

Why is it that we have a hundred different devices to tell you when you've had enough gin-and-tonics, but there isn't one to detect the ingestion of that first superfluous chicken wing? After all, not everybody drinks, but everybody does overeat. That's why we invented Glutton Buckle. Easily attaches to any belt, Glutton Buckle will turn white hot when you've had too much to eat. To keep from getting burned, you will be forced to suck in your stomach and stop pigging out. Deluxe Glutton Buckle includes speakers that will publicly scold you about your weight Note: Glutton Buckle also serves as an accurate, if unpleasant, pregnancy test.

NEW! Police Grade Breathalyzer

Now, for the first time ever, B&M gives you access to the same powerful crime fighting equipment that the pros use.

When it comes down to it, when a policeman pulls someone over, they don't care about BACs or license plates or any of that other mumbo jumbo. All they care about is results. They want to know, is this guy guilty. Fortunately for them, that's easy to find out. When someone is guilty, they exhale 20% more CO2 than someone with a clear conscience, an amount easily detected with a standard issue breathalyzer. Police have been exploiting this evolutionary telltale for decades. It has allowed them to pierce the otherwise impenetrable masks of hardened criminals. Ted Bundy wasn't caught with brilliant forensic work or insightful profiling, he was caught with a breathalyzer. Al Capone went to prison for tax evasion, which was detected by a breathalyzer at a routine DUI checkpoint.

So remember that when an officer gives you a breathalyzer test, he isn't checking for drunk driving per se, but any kind of wrongdoing. Unfortunately, the only way to avoid betraying your guilt with excess CO2 is to have a blood alcohol content of over .08.

The Science Behind Shower Pleasure

Gone Jaundiced

Every family is different. Each parent loves each child in a different way. Especially when that child is a jaundice baby.

How much do YOU love your children?

At Gone Jaundiced, we understand that when it comes to your children, they deserve only the best...most of the time. What about those kids who could (and should) settle for less? Whether it means less money, less quality, less safety, less hygiene—these products lack something that make them just a little bit more affordable for YOU, the customer. You need not empty your pockets (or hearts) out for each one of your children...when one of your children is a jaundice baby.

Dream Bath

Your baby is perfect, but only if he is kept celestially clean, free from all sickening yellow diseases.

Dream Bath is here to answer your prayers.

A huge, hulking mollusk shell filled with blessed, ever-warm sparkling soap water, Dream Bath is sure to give your baby the most pleasant experience possible on Earth. Soaking up the warmth of the holy water, breathing in the scents of wondrous cleanliness, and being washed pure by naked mother, your precious little non-Jaundiced creature will never forget what you have done for him. Seaweed belt included; fits all childboring hips.

Better Walker

This toddler walker is perfect for that lil crawler who just can't wait to get on his feet and Go! And in more ways than one: the bottom of Better Walker's cushiony seat is made of absorbent diaper material, which is easily replaced after each use. In this way, your child can enjoy his walker as it ought to be enjoyed: wholly in the nude, free to flaunt his jaundice-free form for all the world to see. And if he insists on wearing cloth underwear, what better way to ensure an accident free floor? Better Walker's knobs and buttons on the control panel make up a Simon-esque activity game, which will charge your toddler's mental faculties and establish a lifestyle full of intellectual feat at a very young non-jaundiced age. 8 Wheels ensure great speed. 93578A Better Walker $79.99

Stick Walker

Stick Walker is a jaundice baby walker that is good enough. Its wood poles roped together in such a fashion to ensure stability and sustainability, this walker is very inexpensive. Baby will probably have a few more tumbles in Stick Walker, yes, but with each fall comes a new lesson, too. That lesson is simple: Even walking is hard when you have jaundice. Stick comes with play rags and clean-up rags in back. Do not expect to clean off the yellowish discoloration of the whites of your child's eyes, skin, and mucous membranes, however. That is there to stay. 93578B Stick Walker $5.99

Baby Pot

Jaundice baby needs a bath. What to do? Get out the Baby Pot. It's light, easy to store, and satisfactorily safe. Made entirely of plastic, Baby Pot is easily placed on the floor. Once filled with warm water from the bathtub, Baby Pot is an instant bath. If you are comfortable touching or holding the jaundice of your baby, carry him to the Pot and simply lower him in by the head. If you are not willing to touch the Yellow, simply place the Pot on its side, motion your monster child to crawl into the Pot backwards, and then tip the entire product back into vertical position. Do not attempt to fill the Pot before tipping it back to upright position.

A Handheld Product Placement Device
The Power to Deceive

Imagine having the power of digital deceit in YOUR hands. Imagine if the stealthy insertion of digital ads extended not only to the realm of television and the internet, but to real life as well. With Cursive, a state-of-the-art handheld product placement device, the only limit is your imagination.

Our nation's hallowed leader has been killed. The country is entering a very bleak time. A stagnant and corrupted government will begin sending off the younger generations to die in a senseless war.

Five alarm fire? Don't just stand idly by, ogling at the awesome destruction of property. The police will be arriving shortly, and they are going to be keeping their eyes and ears peeled for anything out of the ordinary. You won't have many opportunities like this to take advantage of a crowd of people at the peak of human vigilance. Send a message loud and clear to this country's law enforcement community: if you want the refreshment of a spicy sweet fountain drink, don't settle for some flash-in-the-pants charlatan whose manufacturing plant is now in cinders.

They will vilify the free-thinkers, and the powerless. In this moment of unspeakable despair, you the power to do something. Thousands of Americans line the streets to catch one last glimpse of their fallen future. They are looking for a ray of hope. They are looking for a hero. Give them that hero.

persecute Cursive gives you the power to do something. Thousands of Americans line the streets to catch one last glimpse of their fallen future. They are looking for a ray of hope. They are looking for a hero. Give them that hero.

There have always been a few people in this world who are blessed with the ability to express the deepest and most intricate of feelings through their art. The rest of us turn to their brilliance for understanding and guidance that are unmatched by our commonplace peers.

It's a sad fact, but this country runs on cash. Even if you're a venerated beverage producer who has spent the last half-century perfecting the flavor of a spiced tonic, you can't prevent the clumsy cola colossus from soiling your turf with a can of rusty Tobasco water. That is you couldn't prevent it. Until Cursive. At an exceptionally affordable price, Cursive can halt and even reverse the intrusions of that flavorless Goliath. Comeuppance: just what the doctor ordered.

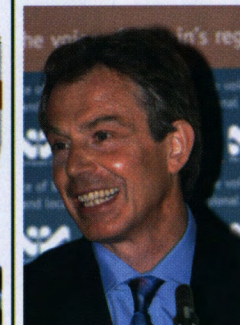

But sometimes, these emotional virtuosos stray to temptation and sign a lucrative contract with a soft drink whose 'refreshment' is at best stale and bitter. That is why we have extended Cursive's remarkable capabilities to brand these junk food Judases with a permanent reminder of their betrayal, and to guide impressionable admirers to the true soda for the age 17 to 25, sappy southerner demographic.

Even if you are one of those rare people who is apathetic about your piquant soda, Cursive can still be applied to the advancement of other causes, like politics!

C.S.

Take this little Puerto Rican sex kitten. This chica virtually sweats sex. But as a practicing Catholic, she's not doing anything for a passionate Northern Ireland Protestant like yourself. Now with Cursive, you can turn her into an Ulster loyalist at the press of a button. Into an anti-papist, IRA hating, sex bomb. Yes!

Mr. Ed and Al Capone

1924. The producers of the Mr. Ed show were in a hell of a spot. Every straight man they brought in to play the role of Hank, Mr. Ed's amiable but ordinary trainer, would invariably improvise his own lines for personal glory or to cover the lucrative 'Ed Spread'. With no where left to turn, executive producer Michael Tenner sought the aid of Al Capone, the country's most powerful gangster and a talented comedian, to give them a straight deal. The onscreen magic between Ed and Capone was instant and undeniable. The duo produced one uproarious moment after another for three straight seasons, a period most Ed aficionados term The Triple Crown. But the chemistry off the set was much more tumultuous. Capone quickly became irritated with Ed's flippant behavior, particularly his refusal to return the courteous 'Mr.' title, addressing the mobster informally with a 'Yo' or a 'Hey you.' It's unclear whether this persistent disrespect led to the television star's demise, or whether he was 'offed' at the hands of another of his many enemies, but on April 17th 1927, Ed's head was found next to his agent's pillow.

To which European culture does this lady owe her allegiance?

Take a good look at this dame sitting here. Can you name the European nation that she and her ancestors hail from? At first glance, you might guess something like Germany or Sweden because of the blonde hair, but if you look closely you'll see some dark roots coming in under that towhead. Her fine features could suggest a nation in southern Europe, but her skin tone seems too light to imply any sort of Hellenic descent, yet she is also too dark to suggest a British origin (unless, perhaps, she is Welsh or Black Irish). One might suppose Spain to be a good choice, but no self respecting Spanish señorita would wear her pelo like that. Also, is that a glass of absinthe next to her computer? If so, a Czech heritage may be inferred, or possibly French. Curious? Of course you are. Our European Cultural Detection CD-ROM will have you confidently validating the ethnicity of beautiful European broads such as this.

- Listening - Learn to distinguish between Europeans' offensively incorrect pronouncements of the English interdental fricative stop. "Zis tred is tdick?" Nice try, but this thread is THICK.
 - Reading - Is she reading Voltaire? Probably French. Something by Cervantes? That would be Spanish. A notable Finnish author? Trick question, Finland has no literary tradition.
 - Speaking - Learn such phrases as: "HEY! Where are you from?" and "What language do you speak?" to help determine your subject's nationality (translations not provided).

The European Detective
Caucasian Ethnic Profiling for Americans

Now, this isn't a true story, but it got me thinking about something: you gotta have heart.

Now, don't expect me to give you money; that could turn out to be very painful for you, even though—I have to admit it—I am one of the most generous people I know. But there are a lot of other ways you can use that heart of yours to pick yourself up. For example, if you are hungry and without food, intently watching someone else eat, while not satiating your hunger, can make that person lose his appetite, which can be quite satisfying in and of itself. I do this often, just to challenge my mind.

Why am I telling you all of this? Because you need to hear it. All your life you've been told that someone else will take care of you, but those words ring hollow when you're warming yourself by the heat of a garbage-can fire. You need to start acting more like a man and less like a beast if you want people to respond to you when you ask them questions. Trust me, people don't respect beasts—they make them do stupid things, and sometimes eat them.

So when you feel like life's got you down, think back to that homeless man, and remember that if you've got heart, even a nickel can buy a house.

Buckle up, and I'll see you next month.

I know what you're thinking right now. Life is hard, and you've had a particularly rough week. Maybe you've gotten a few parking tickets, or the lawn isn't looking like OSH told you it would. Or perhaps someone close to you has died recently. I would say something reassuring, but I won't, because I just can't relate to you. I've got a beautiful wife who doesn't talk back, six blonde children in elite private schools, and a four-story townhouse five minutes from downtown Cleveland.

Still, I do have a story for you.

I was walking down the street the other day, and I saw a homeless man. Needless to say, this was reason enough for me to give pause—you don't see a lot of homeless people in my neighborhood! But, as it was, I was feeling generous, and a bit curious, so I tossed him one of the nickels I found while looking through my daughter Heather's drawers that morning. He picked up the nickel, and gripped it tightly in his grubby fist. A strange, crazed smile spread across his face. There were flecks of dirt in the corners of his mouth where one usually expects to find spit. I could hear the sincerity in his quivering voice. "Thanks, man," he said. "Now I can buy a house."

"I'VE GOT A BEAUTIFUL WIFE WHO DOESN'T TALK BACK, SIX BLONDE CHILDREN IN ELITE PRIVATE SCHOOLS, AND A FOUR-STORY TOWNHOUSE FIVE MINUTES FROM DOWNTOWN CLEVELAND."

Wait Pundler sets the record straight.
